NORFOLK LOCAL NEWS

Will Be Removed.

Mr. J. H. Morris, who was removed as Keeper of the Alms House, still refused to vacate, and the Mayor is determined to get him out. Yesterday the Mayor sent the following letter to Mr. Morris, which explains itself:

Mayor's Office, September 20, 1895.

J. H. Morris, Esq., City.

Dear Sir:—Take notice that in pursuance of authority vested in me in Section 11th of the charter of the city of Norfolk, you are hereby summoned to appear at the committee rooms, in the new market building, City Hall avenue, on Monday, the 23d day of September, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., that you may be given an opportunity to be heard in your defense in answer to charges preferred against you for misconduct in office and neglect of duty, and show cause why you should not be at once removed from office, from which you are now suspended by order.

CHAS. W. PETTIT, Mayor.

This course was decided upon after a consultation yesterday between the Mayor, City Attorney and Mr. H. A. Tarrall, the newly-appointed keeper.

Mr. Buffin Explains.

Mr. J. A. Buffin, who, it appears, is the innocent cause of some of the trouble at the engine-house a few nights ago, has made a statement with a view of exonerating Chief Ryan from all blame in the matter. Mr. Buffin says that while passing the engine-house he stopped in to see the horses, one of which he knew to be sick. This horse, he says, was suffering from a fever, and he knew it. He went to the engine-house to see the horse, and never got well, and offered to let Chief Ryan a hat on that basis. The Chief offered to accept the bet, because he could cure him, and he had confidence in what Driver Hickey said. Some further conversation ensued, when going to the front of the horse Mr. Hickey offered to bet $50 that he could cure him.

Mr. Buffin, who is a business man, said the Chief had never called him in to see the horse, but he went upon his own authority and to satisfy his own curiosity.

The Case Dismissed.

The case of the United States against the officers and owners of the Norfolk and Ocean View Railroad, charged with trespassing on Government property at Ocean View, came up before Commissioner Ackiss yesterday for a hearing. The company claimed that the trespass was committed by the contractor in error, and that no trespass was intended by the company, who, as soon as they heard of it, ordered the work of extending the tracks stopped until permission could be obtained by regular channels from the department to go through the reservation. The commissioner dismissed the case.

Funeral of Mr. J. B. Culron.

The funeral services over the remains of the late J. B. Culron were held at Freeman Street Baptist church yesterday afternoon, Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall of Park Avenue Church, officiating. The reverend doctor paid a glowing tribute to the deceased, Atlantic Lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M., of which the deceased was a member, attended to in a body and followed the remains to the grave in Elmwood Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. S. P. Moore, C. A. Davis, D. C. Laster, L. Roper, Fred. Greenwood and J. E. Etheridge.

A Cutting Affair.

George Smith and Maggie Cusick, both colored, have until lately been good friends. Last night they met on Fourth street and engaged in a war of words which eventually led to a fight and a stabbing affray. Drawing out a knife the man stabbed the woman just above the hip, cutting a gash about two inches long and one inch deep. The wound was bleeding freely. The man appeared and arrested Smith. He will appear before Justice Burroughs this morning.

"THE SPIDER AND FLY."—M. B. Leavitt's big spectacular production, which is to play at the Academy of Music next Monday is an olla podrida of new, bright and mirthful things of burlesque, pantomime, comedy and vaudeville. There are no stars in the company, which comprises over fifty people, but all the principals have been stars in other organizations. The ladies are young, attractive and clever, and the several specialty people are leaders in their lines. Seats are on sale to-day. Prices, 25, 50, 75 and $1.

"THE LOST PARADISE."—This intensely interesting play will be presented at the Academy of Music at a matinee to-day and also to-night. The Richmond Times of yesterday speaks as follows of its presentation there:

Several years ago Mr. William Morris was seen in this city as the leading man to that charming actress, Madame Modjeska. Last night, again bowed before a Richmond audience, at the Theatre in "The Lost Paradise."

"The Lost Paradise" is a clean story and interesting drama. It has intensity, relieved here and there by veins of merriment.

Mr. Morris, as Deuben Warner, has a happy conception of his line, and there is not a moment when he forgets the calibre of the character he is portraying.

His wife, who, by the way, was one of St. Paul's leading society women, as Cinders, an original character, was inimitable and captured the house.

Miss Frances Garnet, as Margaret Knowlton, was billed as a minor character. She proved a most agreeable surprise. As for the rest of the cast, they are a clever and well-balanced men and women, who pleasantly present a pleasing play.

Prices: Matinee, Children, 25, adults, 50 cents; Evening, 25, 50, 75, and $1.

"THE TWO COLONELS."—Mr. Chas. McVilly, representing "The Two Colonels," is in the city, arranging for the appearance at the Academy of this attraction on Thursday, the 26th instant.

"The Two Colonels" is one of the best plays that travels the Southern circuit.

At Norfolk the expects to be favored with the patronage of all local and foreign traffic, as it will also receive the support of sailing vessels and satisfactory handling facilities at Hamburg, to give the two important ports of Virginia a service to Hamburg such as they have never enjoyed before.

The Union Line has in regular service for many years between the ports of Hamburg and New York and this new undertaking of the line is merely an extension. The steamer to leave for Hamburg will be the steamship Acadia, 2,000 tons register, which is booked to leave Virginia on October 15.

The Horse Was Bleeding.

Charles McVey, colored, was arrested yesterday afternoon at his residence, police headquarters riding a horse, by officers Williams and Reid, charged with cruelty to a horse. The horse belonged to the Model Boarding Stables, and the negro was wearing a pair of spurs, every few minutes striking the horse into the side, each time drawing blood. The horse was bleeding, and attracted the attention of the officers as he was passing. He was looked up for a hearing this morning.

The land woman, who was charged with keeping a house of ill-fame, was bailed for her appearance before the Police Court this morning.

Broke the Trolley Wire.

While workmen were cutting down a trolley wire on Church street, between Charlotte and Ruffin streets, yesterday morning, the wire broke, and the trolley, in furtherance of which the wire had been cut, broke across the street, breaking the trolley wire. The wire fell to the street, striking one of the pavers, setting him falling on the ground. One or two other persons were struck and slightly injured. The street cars were detained for a short time.
